The Summer Holidays

Millie never liked the last day of summer term. Everyone else in Class 6 seemed to have exciting plans for the summer holidays. Millie's friend Anna was always going to France. She said the sea was so blue there you could dive in all day. Her friend Jane was going to work as a stable-hand in a real stable. She'd be allowed to ride the horses too. Only Becca who was younger than Millie and lived next door, was always in London when Millie came back from her fortnight at Granma's.
