Going For A Picnic

One hot day in September Mr and Mrs Brown took their three children, Peter, Sally and Julie for a picnic in the woods. While the children searched for conkers their parents put out cold sausages, potato salad and cartons of juice. Then Mrs Brown opened a box of cakes she had made the day before.

Suddenly there was a shriek from Julie. "Quick Dad! An adder!" she cried.

Mr Brown sprang to his feet and ran to Julie. Then he laughed "Don't worry, Julie," he said. "It's only a grass snake."
